

ORGANS PERFORM UP TO HUNDREDS OF FUNCTIONS EACH MINUTE, BUT THEY FAIL PEOPLE EVERYDAY.

On average, 79 people receive an organ transplant each day, and many more than that need it. These marvelous biological machines can last a lifetime, but time and toil take their toll. Think of the many organ systems in your body (cardiovascular, digestive, excretory, immune, etc.) as an elaborate engine with perfectly timed inner workings and gears. The lungs bring in oxygen, your heart delivers that oxygen to the other organs via arteries and blood, which also carry nutrients digested by the stomach and intestine and filtered by your kidneys, and so on. This inward engine needs to refuel with premium nutrients often.
